PFC-FREE – FOR US AND OUR ENVIRONMENT

WHY PFC-FREE?

PFC is hardly degradable, accumulates in the environment and in organisms and is thus classified as not entirely harmless. When washing PFC-impregnated textiles, small amounts of PFC enter the environment, too. Therefore, the ski and outdoor industry, hence also killtec, are working in-depth with their suppliers to develop harmless solutions for PFC, to bring products into even better and more sustainable harmony with the environment and nature.

WHAT ARE PFCS?

PFC is an abbreviation for per- and poly-fluorinated chemical compounds that do not occur in nature. Due to their special surface-active water-, oil- and dirt-repellent properties, they are used in many consumer products – hence also in many products of the ski and outdoor industry. PFC is especially present in the impregnations of ski and outdoor clothing.

WHAT IS KILLTEC'S SOLUTION?

For its PFC-free products, killtec uses the environmentally friendly, water repellent impregnation BIONIC-FINISH®ECO by the Rudolf Group.
